TRIBUTE TO UNKNOWN HERO BY CONFERENCE

President Proposes Delay Opening of Meeting Till November 12

ENVOYS TO BE INVITED

Armistice Day Will Be Proclaimed National Holiday By President

Washington, Sept. 21.—In order that the proceedings incident to the opening of the Disarmament Conference may not overshadow the tribute which America will pay to its unknown dead in the World War on Armistice Day, or distract attention from the national ceremonies at that time, this Government is prepared to suggest to the conference that it postpone its formal organization until Saturday, November 12.

In order that the American people themselves may consecrate their thoughts and center their prayers on the great purposes which underlie the Disarament Conference and upon the solemn meaning of Armistice Day, 1921, President Harding is prepared to issue a proclamation declaring November 11 a holiday and calling upon all the people of the nation to suspend their activities while honoring the unknown dead and while extending a genuine welcome to official delegations which will participate in the deliberations of the conference.

Washington, Sept. 21.—Efforts of a bipartisan group in the Senate to bring about open sessions of the International Conference on the Limitation of Armaments received a serious setback today when Senator Oscar W. Underwood, Democratic leader of the upper chamber and one of the United States delegates to the conference, announced after a confrnce with President Harding that he was opposd to such an agitation.

Senator Underwood questioned the propriety of any action in Congress on the subject. Personally explained Senator Underwood, he would be glad to have open sessions, but he added that the matter is not one with in the jurisdiction of Congress nor of the American delegation. All the nations interested, he said, must be consulted, and he thought it would be unseemly should the Senate pass a resolution caling for open sessions

The attitude of Senator Underwood, who now joins Senator Lodge in advocating a "hands off" policy in the Senat, probably will halt the serious consideration of resolutions proposed by Senator Pat Harison, Democrat, of Mississippi, and Senator William E. Borah, Republican, of Idaho, expressing the sense of the Senate that the United States should use its best offices to open the doors of he Disarmament Conference rooms These resolutions will be supported by a small group in the Senate, according to present indications, but the combined influence of Senators Lodge and Underwood in all probability will halt favorable action.

Senator Underwood called upon President Harding to thank him for the honor conferrd in naming him one of the representatives at the conference. Whether the Alabama Senator reflected the views of the President in disapproving the proposed Senate resolution for "pitiless publicity" at the international gathering was not stated by Mr. Underwood, but indications are that the Administration is against any action in Congress that would seem to dictate the proceedings.

It is expected that the American delegates will "feel out" the foreign delegates regarding public sessions, but it is apparent the representatives of the United States do not want to be embarrassed by a Senatorial dictum on the subject.

Dreadnaughts vs. Churchill

First of a Series For The Championship of Virginia

At last Alexandria will see a championship baseball series beginning Sunday, September 25, when the Church Hill, touted as the sandlot champions of Richmond, will appear in this city for the first of a series of games.

This team is the best that Richmond can produce and the manager and club officials of the D. A. C., have been working hard to get this ball club to perform here. The club has gone to a big expense to have this series for the championship of Virginia, and it is hoped that all the fans of Alexandria will be on hand, this being the first time that any Alexandria team has had a chance of playing for the championship of Virginia with Richmond's sandlot champions. In years previous the Richmond champions played the champions of Washington a series and the Dreednaught Club is mighty lucky in obtaining this club to perform in this city. In all of these games professional umpires will be used. Messrs. Long and Jaecske, of Washington.

STATE NEWS

Richmond,—Following the parade of the Ku Klux Kian Saturday night there is reported today that 500 applications were received by the officers when the parade ended. Several of the ministers of this city protested the advent of the order here, but it is here and it said to have a very great following.

Although Humes' stomach was emptied, too much of the posion had been absorbed the physician stated, to save his life. He died about eleven o'clock. Family estrangements is said too have led the man to take the drug. The physician explained that the tincture of aconite is used to slow down the action of the pulse, and that too large a dose would result in paralyisi of the heart.

Suffolk, Sept, 21.—Watch your change—there are counterfeit $10 bills floating around. Saturday a colored laborer with his perfectly good government check made a purchase in Suffolk and in the change given him was one of these counterfeit bills. He did not detect it, and passed it on to another person who did, and the collortd man was taken before the police and the origin of the bill was soon found. The merchant declared that it was given by a clerk who did not know that it was not good. The bill was of the federal reserve issue and consisted of the two sides of a $10 note, printed on theone side and pasted together. The paper was of a poor imitation, and the two sides were coming apart, the plain white paper showing. It is understood that several other bad bills are floating around. So—watch your change.

Richmond, Sept. 21.—A subcommittee of the committee on ordinances, headed by Alderman Joseph C. Nunnally will be called to meet this week to consider the Winfree Ordanance regulating the operation of jitneys on streets on which there are street cars.

Danville, Sept, 21.—The apple crop in Patrick county has been the most wholesale failure in the memory of the present generation. It is doubtful if more than 2,000 barrels of apples will be made this year as against 200,000 last year. Few apples will be shipped as there will be hardly enough for home consumption.

One orchardist succeeded in securing a fair yield as result of resorting to smudging operations and as a result of this practice willbe more largely resorted to next year. Last year the Patrick apple crop was a bumper and thousands of bushels of apples rotted in the orchadds because labor could not be found to barrel them.

WASHINGTON DAY BY DAY

(From Our Special Correspondent.)

Washington Sept. 21.—With the reconvening of both branches of Congress today after the month's recess interest once more attaches to Capitol Hill and to the doings of our national legislators. With the submission of the German peace treaty to the Senate by the President, with the prohibition leaders determined to force a vote on the anti beer bill, with tax measure about ready for action by the Senate, with th Panama tolls question teh railroad refunding bill, the foreign loan refunding bill all pressing for a vote the members should find plenty of material to keep thm busy from now until the opening of the regular session the first Monday in December next. Despite all reports to the contrary the Gazette correspondent was informed on the highest authority today that it is not the intention of administration Senators to shelve consideration of the treaty of peace with Germany until after the meeting of the conference on the limitation of armaments and Far Eastern questions scheduled to begin its deliberations on November 11 at the National Capital. From the President down there is every reason to believe that the peace treaty will be ratified by a substantial majority when the vote is taken upon the pact. But sometimes the wheels of legislation grind very slowly.

Health Drive For Schools

The United States Bureau of Education has started a nation-wide drive for healthier school children and teachers, and one of the first things it advises is that every pupil and teacher should bathe at least twice a week and not be content with the Saturday night scrubbing. In addition to more frequent baths the bureau declares that the teeth should be brushed at least once a day, that children should sleep long hours with windows open, that children should drink plenty of milk but no coffee or tea and that they should play out of doors every day.

"Pitiless" Publicity

Democrats of the Senate are going to make a demand for "pitiless publicity" at the forthcoming conference on the limitation of armaments. Senator Pat Harrison, of Mississippi, has prepared a resolution which he will introduce in the Senate demanding open sessions of the conference. The resolution would have the conference admit newspaper men to the main sessions. It is recognized that it would be physically impossible to admit the public into these meetings. The resolution would further look with disfavor on any effort by the conference to censor the publicity attending it proceedings, and would rejuire the keeping of a complete daily record of the debate and proceedings of the conference. Republican Senators are expected to oppose the passage of the Harrison resolution.

Ford's Proposal

The United States is not prepared to act as yet upon the proposal of Henry Ford to purchase the nitrate and power plant at Muscle Shoals. The engineers representing Mr. Ford in the proposal have been unable to supply certain information desired by Secretary of War weeks and the negotiations for turning over the plant will cease until the data asked for by the War Secretary is furnished. Then a report will be submitted to the automobile manufacturer at Detroit and he will come to Washington for a final conference with Secretary Weeks.

'Tis To Laugh.

Col. William Hayward, U. S. attorney at New York, who was in Washington today on business with the Department of Justice declares that many of the high-class bootleggers in the metropolis have a very weird conception of law, especially as it affects the sale of intoxicants.

"My attention was called recently," said the Colonel, "to one of the dealers in intoxicants who carries on his business with some of the best people in the city. He dropped in the other day to see one of his customers and began to display his wares.

"I've some very fine Scotch, some vermouth, rye, bourbon, creme de menthe, gin and a few quarters of champagne today," declared the bootlegger. "What can I sell you?"

"Have you any absinthe?" one of his prospective purchasers inquired.

Legislative Committee At Work On Donations To Department Chief—Further Developments Expected

New York, Sept. 21.—Police Commissioner Richard L. Enright today admitted on the witness stand before the Legislative Commitee inquiring into the Hyland city administration, that he had received as a gift of $21,083 from Allan A. Ryan, financier, whom he had appointed a deputy police commissioner.

A check made out by Allan A. Ryan and Company to Commissioner Enright for $12,083.29 was produced, as well as a ledger sheet showing that the Ryan concern on April 17, 1919, had engineered a stock transaction returning that amount. The Company had credited Enright with several thousand shares of an oil stock, and and with the rise in the market a few days later the stock was sold and he was presented with the check.

The commissioner said the check was received after he had appointed Mr. Ryan a deputy commissioner.

Enright's admission came at the conclusion of his testimony regarding the gift of an automobile from Deputy Commissioner John A. Harriss. He said that he did not know whether he would keep the machine, but that it had been placed at his disposal by Mr. Harriss.

The Attorney closed the day's proceedings with the declaration that by comparison with the "very light and negligible punishments frequently visited on men who had violated the sacred rights of persons, a fine of twenty days on the showing made by Commissioner Harriss of the conduct of his Sergeant was most extreme and radical.

TODAY'S THOUGHT No state sorrier than that of the man who keeps up a continual round, and pries into the secrets of his neighbor's heart.

JAMES F. PEYTON

The Gazette's columns of yesterday contained the sad announcement of the death of James F. Peyton, for the past twenty years Alexandria correspondent of the Washington Post, and one of the best-known newspaper men in the Capital. At one time he was prominently connected with the Gazette as its business manager, and frequently during his later years contributed to its columns, as well as maintaining an intimate and friendly relationship with its staff. Mr. Peyton was possessed of a peculiarly sunny disposition, and his vast fund of anecdote, his wide reading and general culture, made him a host of friends wherever he went. He was always a most welcome visitor to this office and his absence will be keenly felt. The Gazette extends its sympathy to the bereaved mother and the fondly cherished family. The relations between the former and the deceased were beautiful and touching, and it is not too much to say that a more fond and devoted son never cheered the declining years of an idolized parent. The same bond of affection existed between him and his sister. His last days were filled with true Christian resignation and heroic endeavor to spare his loved ones all knowledge of his sufferings.

Mr. Peyton was especially fond of the immortal bard. He knew Shakespeare as but few men know him. Quotations, oft and apt, came from his lips in conversation. Let us pay a last tribute to his memory, then, by closing with one of his favorites:

After my death I wish no other herald, no other speaker of my living actions, than those who dwelt with me in kinship with the best.

TORPEDO PLANT WAGES

We have noted with some surprise the various reductions by the Government in wages at the Torpedo Plant located in Alexandria. A reduction in the number of days from six to five per week, and then a cut in the rate of pay per hour. We regret to see this diminution in the pay of the wage-earners, many of whom have taken up their abode in our midst, and hope that it will be found expedient to restore the former scale and a full week of work. Especially do we think the clerical workers in the government employ are unjustly treated by the new scale, so far as we have seen it. This worthy class of our citizens have never received the war-increases in wages that have been granted the other branches of employment, and a horizontal reduction, therefore, is manifestly unfair. We add our voice to the general protest and hope the government will reconsider its recent action.

Camp Humphreys Notes

Master Sergeant Burt Sapp and wife left September 18th for a twenty day furlough. They will motor to Connecticut and return.

The post school has been increased by two grades, the first and sixth grades having been added. The new grades opened September 19th and are in charge of Miss Lois Schreiner.

It is proposed to organize at Camp Humphreys three clubs, a trap and gun club, a boat club and a chess club provided a sufficient number signify their willingness to become members The ladies of the post are eligible to join as well as the officers.

The gun club will install traps and regular practice and contests will be held. A site for the traps has been selected within easy walking distance of the camp. The hunting activities of the club will include field and duck shooting.

Considering the beautiful waterways surrounding Camp Humphreys and the many interesting and historic places nearby on the Potomac, it is believed that a boat club would be a source of much pleasure to the members of the camp. It is proposed that a small boat club be erected near the Ponton School where canoes, row boats and equipment of the members of such a club could be stored. Anchorages and docks for small motor boats and a marine railway would be included in the projects of the club.

The Motor Cruiser "Eros" is now in commission, and is available to take parties not exceeding twelve in number on afternoon and evening trips on the Potomac. Captain L. R. Lohr will arrange for parties with those desiring to use the boat. The expenses of operation must be borne by the parties.

The chess club would hold regular meetings and series of matches between members of the club and by mail with other clubs throughout the country. Experts would be brought to Camp Humphreys to play all members of the club simultaneously, and to point out the best methods of play.

Mrs. E. R. Schreiner, Mrs. C. C. Gans and Mrs. W. H. Waugh will give a bridge party at the Log Cabin on Friday evening September 23rd

1st Lieutenant W. C. Bennett, C. E. reported here September 19th from Sam Houston, Texas for duty with the 17th Regiment of Engineers which is to be organized at this station upon the arrival of the 5th Engineers from Camp Mead. The Fifth is expected to march from Camp Meade to Camp Humphreys before the end of the month.

At the Liberty Theatre Sunday evening September 18th the 13th engineer band under the leadership of Warrant Officer Richard W. Treichel rendered Rossini's "William Tell" and Nesvadba's "Lorelei" and following the invocation and community singing Sergeant Richard Corbin with the horn and Musician Jose Ortiz with the flute rendered as a duet Titl's "Serenade." The motion pictures featured George Arliss in "The Devil."

Sergeant Daniel O'Keefe of Co. F, 13th engineers is under orders to proceed to Boston having been transferred to the office of the Engineer, 1st Corp Area, Army Base, Boston, Mass. Sergeant O'Keefe has been at this post for 18 months, he has been at the Target Range with his company for the last three weeks and will leave for his new station as soon as he has completed firing for record He served with the Coast Artillery in the Defenses of Boston in a former enlistment. His transfer was made in response to his own request

Miss Virginia Cogswell has returned from a month's leave on Long Island and resumed her duties as hostess at the Service Club which has become rather an unusually busy position during the last week, as the number of officers reporting here for the Engineer School as students has been greater than there were quarters to accomodate, so that every available space at the Service Club is crowded. New quarters are being prepared and will be occupied as fast as they can be made ready.

Captain P. T. Coffey and Captain H. J. Jones; First Lieutenant E. J. Curran and Second Lieutenants C. Jenkins and D. A. Morris have reported for duty in the Engineer School as students with three exceptions this completes the number of students expected for the courses this fall. The school opened Thursday, September 15th.

Captain P. J. Galloway, of Eagle wood, N. J., and Captain L. B. Ackerman of Springfield, Ga.; First Lieutenants R. B. Childs, of Washington, D. C., and L. J. Edmunds, of Boston, Mass.; and Second Lieutenant J. B Stein, of Altoona, Pa., all National Guard Engineer Officers have arrived for a course for National Guard officers in the Engineer School.

Motorizing the Philippines

The Phillipine Islands could not wait for transportation development by the railroads. So they jumped to the jitney. Development started really in 1912 and now is going ahead rapidly. At first it was a hard task to get the natives to ride in the automobiles.

But now, says John A. Haeseler in the September American Industries, he steps out on the road with his bag of corpa or bundle of hemp in his arms and hails the first stag that comes along. He shoves his baggage up ahead of him and climbs on. Other passengers are picked up with their loads and soon the truck becomes a weired pile of men, old women, children, bundles of hemp, sacks of corpa, strings of fish, etc.. There are all unloaded in the center of a village. The native will probably take his load to the Chinese merchant and bargain with him and then buy any of a great number of foreign articles from clocks to highly colored neckties. An old man and woman who were fellow passengers of his, will take the garden produce they brought with them and spread it out on a counter in the public market, together with their neighbors, belly fish, half cleaned chickens, delicious mangoes and papayas and set up a temporary store for a day. The old women will wander about and visit her friends, while the old men attend a cock fight when she returns.

The hardest problem in all the establishment of the stage lines was to get the conductors to turn in the money they receive. In most cases the employes remitted whatever they thought was not safe to keep. Various checks were invented to stop this, but only about two months ago an effective system was devised to enfore honesty on the part of the conductors. And in this the Oriental nature of the Filipino citizens was appealed to on its most susceptible side. The tickets have on them figures showing the distance traveled, a list of the commodities usually with the passenger fare. The conductor is required to give the passenger a duplicate, The tickets are numbered and at the end of each month a lottery is held and the holder of the duplicate to the lucky numbers receive a prize; usually 30 pesos ($15) for the first, 30 pesos for the second and 10 pesos for the third. Since the winner will forfeit the prize if his ticket is not correctly punched each individual demands honesty on the part of the conductor.

The only things that are allowed to ride free of charge on the Filipino stages are the fighting cocks. The companies figure that his is a large incentive to business, for on Sundays and holidays the trucks are a gay array of highly colored camisas (shirts) of the old Filipino taos, each proudly bearing his favorite fighting cock in his arms as he makes his way toward the village cock-pit which is covered by a great roof in nipa palms. Here his cock will fight; some other, probably with knives three inches long fastened to his legs.—American Industries.

Why People With Weak Nerves and Thin Blood So Often Fail in Life

Without strong nerves you lose your magnetism, force and courage. You feel your own weakness and others know that you are weak. Trifling things annoy you—this is a sure sign of nerve exhaustion.

Some people are born with a very small amount of nervo-vital fluid, because their nerve force has been squandered by the lives lead by their ancestors. Others use up their nerve force faster than the body can make it.

When your nerve force becomes weakened, all the vital organs of your body lose their normal strength and vigor and as a result, all kinds of alarming symptoms may appear. From the pains across the back, one person thinks he has kidney trouble; another may think his spine is injured because of the tender spots which may occur thereon. The dull heavy pain in the lower part of head leads another to think he is going to have paresis and from the disagreeable fulness or pressure in the front of his head, another feels he is going to die from high blood pressure. Sleeplessness and nervous irritability, heart palpitation and indigestion are very common symptoms. Naturally your strength, vigor, endurance and brain power are all greatly weakened, and in such a condition you are in no position to compete with the strong, keen red-blooded man with nerves of steel. When you lack nerve force, there is only one thing that is going to help you—and that is more nerve force. In such cases mere stimulating medicines and narcotic drugs are often worse than useless; what you must have is something to furnish an increased supply of the nervo-vital fluid to your nerve cells. This is most effectively accomplished by the free use of Nuxated Iron. This valuable product contains the principal chemical constituent of active living nerve force in a form which most nearly resembles that in the brain and nerve cells of man. It also contains organic iron like the iron in your blood and like the iron in spinach, lentils and apples. This form of iron will not blacken nor injure the teeth nor upset the stomach. It is an entirely different thing from metallic iron which people usually take. Nuxated Iron may therefore be termed both a blood and a nerve food as it feeds strength-giving iron to your blood and the principal chemical ingredient of active living nerve force to your brain and nerve cells.

Over four million people are using Nuxated Iron annually. From the remarkably beneficial results which it has produced, the manufacturers feel so certain of its efficacy that they guarantee satisfactory results to every purchaser or they will refund your money. Beware of substitutes. Look for the word "Nuxated" on every package. Nuxated Iron for the blood and nerves is sold by all druggists.

AUTOMOBILE ROADS.

With more than 10,000,000 motor cars in use in the United States alone, and with more than one-half of the population of the country doing more or less riding in these self-propelled vehicles, it is not strange that there should be a nation-wide sentiment for more and better highways, in the opinion of President George C. Diehl of the American Automobile Asociation, who points out:

"With light delivery cars and giant motor trucks operating in every section of the land where good roads exist, transporting quickly, and economically every human need, and carrying every type of freight from eggs to pig iron, blind indeed is the man who can not see the value of highways. Today, however, this type is a rare speciman.

"But what a change from the days when the American Automobile Association came into being and inaugurated its long, hard struggle to convert a presumably enlightened people to the roads-building idea. In those days automobiles were few and generally considered playthings for the rich. Now with the bulk of people motors an every day need and a Sunday pastime. Anw with good roads to travel upon today they serve alike industry and commerce, capital and labor, poor man, rich man, begger man, thief."

According to President Diehl, first in this country to work in organized form for good roads was the American Automobile Association. In the begining of its effors, he says, the A. A. A. stood practically alone, today it is assisted, suported, and commended by practically all big organizations, both in and out of the automobile industry.

Writing reminiscently of the A. A. A.'s early roads efforts, and how difficult it was in those days to get people to accept increased taxation for road improvements, W. A. Johnson, manager of the Goodrich auto tire department, in a letter to President Diehl, points out and dwells most interestingly on a sorrowful situation created largely by a lack of highways communication. Mr. Johnsand, in part:

"Over in China there is an area about the size of the State of Pennsylvania where fifty million people are starving. Every blade of grass, every green leaf, or shrub, grain berry or herb has been eaten. The bark has been eaten from all the trees. Millions have died and despite world-wide relief efforts, millions more will die. The great war was a catastrophe, but no such tragedy as this . In all recorded history only two of three pages tell a tale as tragic as China's famine.

"Yet the next provinces is one of the most fruitful sections of the world. Grains, vegetables and fruits in abundance. Think of Pennsylvania starving and New York with plenty and you have the right mental perspective. Such a condition could not occur in this country. The specter of famine might be seen and felt but the would be unknown even on the remotest hilltop. Relief would come over every highway and railway.

"In China there is not a single modern highway betwen the fertile pro vicnweheoenrsetaonidnTTg:hnc province where song and laughter are heard and the lean province where the children are too weak to cry for food. When the relief agents went to China they found it would cost far more to bring food from the rich province next door than it would cost to transport it from Europe or America. When China establishes some kind of a transportation system more elevated than the wheelbarrow its periodic starvings will cease.

"When the whole world shall have learned the lesson that the march of civilization demands a proper expansion of all agencies of transportation including waterways, railroads and motorized highways, then such tragedies as China's wil cease from the earth, but this will not come and cannot come by inaction or retrogression. What every country needs is an over-flow spirit in establishing quick communication and continuous commerce; satisfied with nothing less than safe and easy travel and transnever resting till the wheelbarrow of this generation is but a memory, like many another rack and ruin of the past. If the people of the earth are to have a vision less than this then they must also harden their hearts against the relief of the starving hords, and shut from their eyes the spectacle of millions of children dying from lack of bread."

You can't help noticing the man who comes down to the office in the morning with ruddy cheeks and clear sparkling eyes—full of energy, and eager for the tasks of the day.

He is physically "fit"—and can do twice the amount of work the average person can do, without becoming fatigued.

If you go out to lunch with this man you'll notice that probably he avoids coffee, though he may drink Postum—the well-known and delicious beverage, coffee-like in flavor.

This is the secret of his superb health. He isn't putting the drugs from coffee or tea into his system three times every day. As a consequence he sleeps like a healthy baby all night. His sleep refreshes and rests him. He has perfect control of his nerves.

Do not delay another day in starting back on the road to robust health. The rich, coffee-like flavor of Postum will surprise and please you.

Order Postum from your Grocer today. Drink this hot, refreshing beverage in place of tea or coffee for ten days and see what a wonderful difference it will make in the way you feel.

Postum comes in two forms: Instant Postum (in tins) made instantly in the cup by the addition of boiling water. Postum Cereal (in packages of larger bulk, for those who prefer to make the drink while the meal is being prepared) made by boiling for 20 minutes.

ATTORNEY GENERAL IS LOOKING INTO K. K. K.

Washington, Sept. 21.—The Department of Justice is considering whether Federal action shall be taken in connection with the activities of the Ku Klux Klan, Attorney General Daugherty said today.

Mr. Daugherty said he would confer tomorrow with Director Burns, of the Bureau of Investigation, who has been directed to look into the question, and if the facts warranted would seek a grand jury investigation of the Ku Klux Klan in some district and urge indictment against any members where justified.

The Attorney General discussed the matter today with District Attorney Hayward, of New York, and several of the Assistant Attorneys General but said that no conclusion as to whether the Federal Government should take part in the Ku Klux question had been reached.

Any Federal action against the Klan, Mr. Daugherty said, would probably be under some statute covem involved he added, was somewhat lem involvd, he added, was somewhat complex. On its face, he explained, the literature of the Ku Klux Klan was not in violation of the law.

What was to be determined, he explained, was what went on behind the scenes—"the wink and the nod that turns the trick."

The Government, Mr. Daugherty said, is not to be run or intimitidated by any man or organization behind a mask.

"We are making another reduction in the prices of For d cars and the Ford truck, effective today. The new prices average $70.00 under former prices, and are the lowest at which Ford cars and trucks have ever been sold. List prices, F. O. B. Detroit, are now as follows:

	New Prices	Old Prices	Amount of Reduction
CHASSIS	$295	$345	$ 50
RUNABOUT	325	370	45
TOURING CAR	355	415	60
TRUCK	445	495	50
COUPE	595	695	100
SEDAN	660	760	100

"This is the third price cut during the past twelve months. On September 22, 1920, the price of the Ford touring car was reduced from $575 to $440; June 7th to $415, and now to $355, making total reduction in this type of $220, or 38 per cent. The same proportionate reductions have been made in all other types. One year ago the price of the Ford sedan was $975; today it nets at $660 with the same equipment.

"We are taking advantage of every known economy in the manufacture of our products in order that we may give them to the public at the lowest possible price, and by doing that, we feel that we are doing the one big thing that will help this country into more prosperous times. People are interested in prices, and are buying when prices are right.

"The production of Ford cars and trucks for August again broke all previous high records with the total reaching 117,696. This is the fourth consecutive month in which our output has gone over the hundred thousand mark, the total for the four months being 463,074, which has gone a long way in making possible the present reductions. June this year, with an output of 117,247 was the previous record month.

"One noteworthy feature of our sales is the increased demand for Ford trucks and cars for salesmen. This class of commercial business has been gradually increasing the past sixty days and we interpret it as a very good sign of improvement in general business.

"No reduction has been made in the price of the Fordson tractor, and none is contemplated."

Go over these new prices! See how little it costs to become the owner of a Ford car or a Ford truck. Can you really afford to do without one any longer?

Let us tell you more about it, and advise you regarding the delivery of the particular type car in which you are interested.

BOY'S CLOTHING

What is it in clothes that appeals to the youth? Style—Quality—Service? No! To "Have 'em just like Daddy's"—that's it.

Not one iota of difference does the cut, or the tailoring, or the material make. But it's the imitative instinct prompted by a brand of hero worship that guides his preferences

With this knowledge of boy nature in view, designers have followed the same style tendencies, as in men's clothes, and very sturdy manly little figures do they present. However the interpretation is more liberal and less severe as a concession to the feminine influence that must be still considered at this age.

Few Style Changes

Lower waistlines, lower pockets and rolling lapels are noted as in men"s suits but patch pockets and in some instances belts are still retained. Double breasted models also are more popular than in men's garments. Norfolk jackets cannot be overlooked at the school boy age. Pleats and yokes are found in some of the favorite styles. These suits appeal to both the boy and his mother.

Trousers are in full knickerbocker style, a trifle longer and less baggy to be secured just below the knee with a strap.

Fine grade flannels, tweeds, cheviots and worsteds are used in their fashioning. Blue serge, club checks and shepherd plaids are favored and some extremely natty looking models are observed.

Ulsterettes Have Snap

Jaunty ulsterettes are offered for the school boy, too fashioned of heavy materials such as are used for men's coats. Double breasted models with patch pockets and belts provide exceedingly swagger and serviceable overcoats.

Raglan effects with set in sleeves are also noted and are either generously pleated or full draped. Both the knee length and three quarter models are approved.

The fabrics used are of the rougher textures such as the unsheared weaves, coarse tweeds Shetlands Chinchillas etc.

Juvenile Styles of Interest

Juvenile fashions have come in for a considerable share of attention in the last few seasons, and a variety of delightful little suits is the result

Every mother knows that adorable stage when her baby boy is first introduced to suits with trousers and asserts his masculinity by demanding "pockets n'everything."

A charming model is the Junior Norfolk that is patterned after big brother"s suit. They are box pleated either in the back or front or at the sides, with jaunty little belts. These suits button straight up the front through the neck, without lapels. Most straight trousers are displayed although some with knickers are also shown.

Eton Norfolks Remain

Middy suits and Eton Norfolks also tender themselves to the proud parents' hearts and are liberally represented in Fall fashions for the little fellow.

A more dressy model is the Oliver Twist suit. Dark velvet or corduroy is combined with white or daintily tinted silk shirts.

Always appealing for the kiddie are the one piece knitted suits with caps to match. They are both practical and cunning and the baby is well protected against all draughts in one of these.

Caps Are Preferred

Caps must be given precedence over hats as they appeal to the youngster as a college fashion. This school boy preference is established and deserves encouragement for its suitableness and neatness as a cap will understand hard usage and retain its shape and color far better than a hat.

Why Suffer So?

Why suffer from a bad back, from sharp, shooting twinges, headaches, dizziness and distressing urinary ills Alexandria people recommend Doan's Kidney Pills. Could you ask for shronger proof of merit? Ask your neighbor!

Mrs. A. Waring, 519 Patrick St., Alexandria, says: "I suffered from my back and inflammation of the bladder. I was in such misery during these attacks that I had to have injections of morphine to relieve the pain. My back ached so badly, I thought it would kill me. Pain in the top and back of my head nearly drove me insane. I often got so bizzy I could hardly keep from falling. Nothing did me any good until I began taking Doan's Kidney Pills, procured at Leadbeater's Drug Store The first box gave me great relief. I used several boxes altogether and they stopped the awful pain in my back and head and made my kidneys normal. Since then, I have taken Doan's as soon as I have noticed any signs of kidney disorder and they have never failed to give quick relief."

Do It Now!

So many coal consumers have delayed putting in their Winter coal this season that there will be an urgent demand when the weather gets cold which will make it impossible for the mines to produce, the railroads to haul or the dealer to handle all orders as satisfactorily as the trade will want.

It is our advice to all consumers to enter their order now and have their coal put in as promptly as possible.

Algeria has a river that literally is filled with ink, being formed by the union of streams, one of which is impregnated with gallic acid and the other with iron.

Telephone Service

Doubtles there is not a single telephone subscriber in this city who has not at times become impatient over the seemingly unnecessary length of time taken by central in answering his call, or who has not become irritated almost to the boiling point by being given a number entirely different from that asked for. At such times one entertains no very friendly feeling for the telephone company. But whatever may be the faults of telephone service in the United States one can not escape taking a great deal of pride in it if one happens to be in a foreign land and attempts to use the telephone provided there. The following, written by an American newspaper corespondent in Paris, illustrates:

"An event of national importance has just happened in France. A new telephone book has been issued.

"The Paris telephone book is commonly known as the annuaire des telephones.' Of course 'annuaires' means 'annual.' As a mater of fact, however, this is the first new directory isued since 1917. Even so, there was much opposition in parliament to publishing it, on account of the cost.

Telephonle subscribers are notified that tney may have the advantage of this 'facility' by calling at the telephone office. Otherwise it will be delivered as soon as possible, but not before the lapse of one month.

"My own present telephone was installed just five months before the book was published, but 'too late for insertion.'

"On the other hand, to compensate for the large number of subscribers omitted, the government has carefully kept on its list a considerable number of people who presumably no longer have telephones nor any use for them. One discovers, for instance, 'Bolo-Pasha, 17 rue de Phalsbourg,' and one is told that one may be connected with 'Almereyde, Miguel,' by calling a certain number at St. Cloud. As the former was executed and the latter committed suicide in prison about the time the preceding 'annuaire' was published, it is to say the least considerate of the administration to continue their telephone subscriptions.

"However, repeated call for Mr. Bolo's number gets no response, while a voice tells those who ring up Mr. Almereyda that the gentleman 'is no longer domiciled at St. Cloud.'

"Americans who are accustomed to new and up to date telephone directories every few months will perhaps find this sample of telephone service in France sufficiently annoying, but that is not the only complaint one may raise. To begin with there is a charge of 700 francs—a mere $55.001—for the installation of the phone. Even then, unless one has some contract with the postal administration whereby to obtain preferential treatment there may be a delay of two or three months. Service charges of 700 francs a year are payable quarterly in advance, and on top of that one must make a deposit if one desires to make any long distance calls. Besides, the telephone instrument is not furnished by the administration, but each subscriber buys and owns the particular type of instrument he prefers.

"In all lands 'wrong number' calls are a source of irritation, but I believe the French system holds the record. No statistics are available, but many conservative people maintain the percentage of wrong numbers given is not less than 50, and some would place the figure much higher."

After experiencing such service as that described above, one is inclined to give the American telephone companies a gold medal. In speed, accuracy and cost our own service is far superior to that of the French capital, and when occasionallly one has trouble getting a quick connection with a correct number it might lesson his irritation to remember what the poor Parisians have to put up with.—Lynchburg Daily Advance.

Moods and Modes

By Marjorie Howe Dixon

Moods and modes—how inextricably intertwined! The feminine mood—its name is Legion. The Autumn mode, is it not also Legion? Verily. For each hour of the day, each separate occasion demands its mode—and within the mode lie countless variations of the mood.

Variations, yes, thank goodness. For a woman preserves her individuality as she would her pearly teeth. Each fair creature demands the smart mode that is her self-expression. And she will not be stereotyped.

Self-determination is not to be seized upon by diplomats, to become their exclusive phrase. It has just as vital a meaning to the eternal feminine, and having once perceived it, she is not likely to let it go.

What has Autumn in store for this marvelous modern woman?

In what manner will the intricacies, aye, the subtleties of her mood become expressed?

There are fur collared tailleurs and coats for the out-of-doors. When her desire seeks the open air, the shopping excursion, the long walk, she will resort to these. There are street dresses for the earlier fall, before the weather turns cold. There are many, many pretty costumes for her afternoons, indoors, whether she entertains or seeks amusement in the homes of her friends.

And loveliest of all are the exotic evening dresses, the tremulous, subtle or gayly joyous party frocks. For these happy times she need not consider subdued tints ,nor firm practical materials, but can shimmer forth onto the brightly lighted dancing floor, all one gleam of sequins. Perhaps ser self-expression will demand the bouffant folds of taffeta, with tight bodice and above it gayly flung bobbed hair. Then again she may elect to stun all beholders with the severity and bold simplicity of black velvet.

This Season's Contribution

Each year a number of smart and quite tailored dresses are designed The business woman finds her daily costumes amongst these, knowing as she does, that her clothes must be more severe in line and cut, than those worn at home. Such dresses are so very good looking that many of our feminine friends enjoy them, other than those of the office.

Slip-over styles are to dominate, they tell us. A straight silhouette will result, although fullness will be introduced in large pleats at the sides, over the hips.

For materials poiret twill and crepe-tine will be favorites. Many of the wool dresses will be piped with silk.

Variety is especially noticeable in sleeves. Some will be short, above the elbow. Others will be long, fairly wide, in kimona style. As a rule, set-in sleeves will predominate. This season will show us some circular skirts. Hems will be scalloped again, sometimes bound with self material, sometimes contrasting both as to color and cloth.

Skirts will be about ten or twelve inches from the floor. The hosiery manufacturers will be glad, we presume, that they are not to lengthen greatly.

Trimmings will be more delicate this year in tracery embroideries in narrow braid and chain stitch. Accentuating the lines of a garment will be their chief duty. Coats and suits loats are characterized by length this autumn.

Coats will reach to the hem of the dress, elaborately braided and embroidered. A low waste line will be noticeable and also narrow belts.

Scarf collars with tassels are designed to wrap about one's throat, to be flung over one's shoulder. Russian blouse openings also will be used, buttoning up on the side and high on the shoulder.

Krimmer and Caracul fur are favorites, and in materials duvetyns, soft woolens and veldeens. One material for a coat is the rule, with braided collar or something for banding.

Interesting Vogues

One of the interesting styles for fall had a braided panel over the shoulders, reaching down to the front pockets under the belts. Two narrow belts crossed each other and buttoned. A high collar protected the neck, and two braided panels descended from the pointed yoke. A semi raglan sleeve was also braided, as well as the deep cuff.

Another of the coats showed a raglan effect. Its high collar was of squirrel as well as its cuffs, which boasted a band of the same fur. It opened on the side with bound button-holes and many, many buttons. One striking feature of this coat was the treatment of the pockets. These were long slashed affairs, not horizontal but upright, bound with arrow heads at either end. Each had a line of buttons traveling its full length.

An unusual sleeve distinguished this smart model. Rows upon rows of braid descended its length to the cuff. A panel of braid made its presence known and the belt doubled itself and then buttoned.

A tailored model in soft marvella cloth held to a simple style with a circular skirt. Its high crush collar fastened above a side opening. Deep cuffs and stitched plain panels were the other features.

Among the suits, fur collars are popular and also long coats. One of these wore a deep shawl collar of squirrel reaching almost to its deep waist line in front. Pockets stood out over the hip tucked and buttoned. Appliqued panels in the back ended in tassels. A novelty cuff with a single large button finished the sleeve.

Timmings for Suits

Another attractive suit model in velour de laine had an interesting collar. This was a crush affair of fur and cloth, making a scarf to be flung over the shoulder, there to delightfully end in a tassel. Its opening was at the side and high on the shoulder. At the back wide braid below the belt went up over the shoulder and down the side front making a distinct change from the usual. As with others, it double belted itself and wore deep braided cuffs.

What will be the mood of the afternoon dress? Will it flutter gayly and brightly, or will it demurely subdue its colors and lines?

Regardless of the brilliant tones worn by the leaves in the fall of the year, the afternoon dress chooses the more sombre colors. Among these putty is the gavest,—though would one call it gay?—while navy blues, dark browns and French grey also appear. Dark grey is another good color.

One brown tunic skirt had gussets of rust set in, as if it weren't content to stay too subdued.
